1st International CREBA confab launched

The Chamber of Real Estate & Builders' Associations, Inc. (CREBA) launched its First International Convention last May 27, 2010 at the Hotel Intercontinental in Makati City.

The Convention is scheduled on October 25-26, 2010 in the island-state of Macau, with the theme, "Go Global with CREBA."

Florentino S. Dulalia, Jr., CREBA national president, said that for the last 18 years of its 37-year history, CREBA has been holding an Annual National Convention every October, declared by government as the national housing month.

The past conventions have been attended by some 500 industry stakeholders and policy-makers from all over the country. In presence as Keynote Speaker. Vice-President Noli De Castro, chairman of the Housing & Urban Development Coordinating Council (HUDCC), addressed the delegates as guest of honour.

Cognizant of the inseparable economic pump-priming effects of tourism, housing, infrastructure and real estate construction and development, the Chamber has chosen Macau, known as the "Las Vegas of Asia" as venue of this year's confab, where a CREBA Chapter is set to rise through the efforts of at least 18 Filipino community associations organized by the CREBA International Foundation. The event will be held in partnership with the ii-country Asia-Pacific Council of the International Real Estate Federation, more popularly known for its French acronym, FIABCI.

According to Dr. Reynaldo A. Carpio, CREBA executive vice-president and chairman of the convention committee, part of the 2-day affair will be a major housing fair for Overseas Filipinos; sight-seeing and tour of development models which are products of the world's best practices; and globally-renowned speakers to share new ideas vital in harnessing business opportunities at a truly global perspective.

The convention committee is also composed of: Editha L. Manansala, Overall Co-Chair; Teresita C. Millan, Co-Chair (Finance); Prof. Roque A. Magno, vice-chair, program; Dr. Eduardo G. Ong, vice-chair; program; Robert Marie C. Sy, deputy chairman for Asia-Pacific affairs; Julius G. Topacio, vice-chair, marketing; Veronica E. Lim, vice-chair, ways and means; Orlando T. ## RP recognized as travel gateway for tourists

The Philippines was recognized as the travel getaway for tourists as Cebu and Boracay was voted as "Best Travel & Leisure Destination (short haul) Award" in the recently concluded Travel Weekly China Travel and Meetings Industry Awards online voting competition.

Travel Weekly China is a leading travel industry trade publication in China. The awards aim to recognize the best enterprises in China's travel, meeting and incentive industry and since its debut in 2002, the event has won recognition from the industry for its fairness, transparency and creativity.

Philippine Ambassador to China Francisco Benedicto said the award was accepted by Tourism Undersecretary Vicente Romano III in a ceremony held in Beijing on Aug. 30.

Benedicto said the nominees for the awards were chosen by a panel of judges composed of travel and tourism industry executives and professionals. The nominees were then posted online since June 2010 and 800,000 "netizens" from the Chinese tourism and meetings industry voted on their choices.

In April, the Philippines also won a gold award in service quality at the China Outbound Travel and Tourism Market Fair in Beijing for its excellent performance in meeting the needs of Chinese tourists visiting the Philippines.
